

The Meeting Place

August 2022

Welcome to August's The Meeting Place e-Newsletter highlighting forthcoming events and training courses in the One Nucleus calendar where you can meet us and your peers, including external events where members can access discounts to attend. You will also find links to articles highlighting some of the stand-out topics our network has been discussing, and updates on engagement activities we offer to support our members.

One Nucleus Guest Blog: ON Helix Panel Summary - Cell and Gene Therapy Manufacture

ON Helix 22 took place on 7 July at Babraham Research Campus covering bio innovation trends, from the developments in life science and technology research to their translation into new diagnostics, prevention tools and treatments. A recurring theme is future technologies for cell and gene manufacturing which was discussed in a panel chaired by Taylor Wessing at the ON Helix conference. Read a summary of the discussion in a guest blog written by Victoria English, Editor, MedNous, Evernow Publishing Ltd. Read More...

One Nucleus is hosting Genesis London 2022 on 7 December under the headline theme 'Maximising Returns from Life Science Innovation' and registration is open. The keynote programme is rapidly evolving covering topics such as winners and losers 2022, the 'who', 'what' and 'when' for headlines shaping our sector, innovative dealmaking, Boston vs. Cambridge, technology in shaping R&D and anatomy of a life science leader. There will be some great networking opportunities and sponsorship is available to showcase your company and expertise to Genesis delegates, including exhibition stands and online Innovation Workshops. There will be a digital delegate option on 5, 6 and 8 December. All One Nucleus members receive one free digital delegate pass. Full delegate passes (including in-person and digital access) are discounted to members. To get up to speed and to register check out the event website...
